

Abbi & Mike Prussack
I believe they live in Colorado

I have never met these folks in person -- just a little sporadic text communication through the last few years.

However I have followed their on line presence fairly closely and admired their untiring efforts to help folks put together an understanding of the moral collapse of a destructive organization that they have a unique understanding and insight into.

Especially admirable, as I know that they have a lovely young family to care for at the same time

Thank you very much Mike and Abbi
